

SAVE THE DATE!

WHAT: Blue Ridge Greenways Conference

WHEN: November 12-13, 2005

WHERE: Asheville, NC at the Grove Park Inn

WHO: Citizens, planners, local officials and others interested in learning more about best practices for greenway planning and development, effective partnerships and funding for greenways.

WHY: Many new people are getting involved in advocating for, planning and designing greenways in Western North Carolina (and across the state). This conference will:

- * bring people together to network and learn from each other;
- * deepen attendees' understandings of the important roles greenways can play in the transportation network, protecting water quality and improving quality of life;
- * feature local greenway projects in sessions and mobile workshops;
- * feature speakers who have experience in building creative and strong partnerships;
- * provide attendees with information and resources to enable them to more efficiently and effectively fund, plan and develop greenways.

CONTACT: Linda Giltz, AI CP, Regional Planner at Land-of-Sky Regional Council

828-251-6622 or lindag@landofsky.org

Watch for additional conference information at www.landofsky.org.

This conference is being held in conjunction with the NC Recreation and Parks Association and SC Recreation and Parks Association Joint annual conference. CEUs will be available for most sessions of the Greenways Conference.

Thanks to our Sponsors! (shown on left)